Neuroth exhibits at Keystone

The Linder Gallery at Keystone College will present a major exhibition of paintings by long-time professor Karl Neuroth on its campus in LaPlume, Oct. 9-Dec. 4. The exhibit will focus on Neuroth's recent artwork involving complex arrangements of multiple canvasses, and will also include paintings from the artist's early career.

A reception will be held on Sunday, Oct. 9, 4-6 p.m., in the Gallery which is located in the Miller Library, and the public is invited.

Neuroth, a Clarks Green resident, retired from Keystone College last year after 40 years of service. He was the driving force behind establishing Keystone's highly respected fine arts program, and served as chair of the fine arts division until 1998.

During that same time, Neuroth served as director of the Linder Gallery. He now devotes his energy exclusively to his artwork, dividing time between studios in Clarks Green and Manhattan.

Neuroth is well known for his vibrant and colorful paintings in mixed media. His recent artwork combines multiple canvasses ranging in size from one foot to three feet square, featuring subjects that include floral displays, landscapes, still lifes and the human figure. Neuroth sometimes combines several dozen paintings into a single arrangement. The artist also frequently rearranges the canvasses, so no exhibit of his work is the same as any other.

"Karl Neuroth has an extensive and well-deserved following in northeast Pennsylvania, and this exhibit has been anticipated for some time," curator Drake Gomez said.

the exhibit is an acknowledgment of not only of his work as an artist, but of his innumerable contributions to the arts throughout the region.

"It is not an overstatement to say that the art scene in this area were it not for Karl Neuroth," Gomez noted.

A full-color catalog of Neuroth's paintings is being published in conjunction with the Linder Gallery exhibit, and features an essay by WVIA-FM commentator Erika Funke. The catalog will be available free of charge to gallery patrons.

A portion of the sales of Neuroth's paintings will go to the Scotty Neuroth Memorial Fund, an award given to Keystone's fine arts students each year.
